Cash Handling

ProTouch has no close-off periods, so reporting is as simple as selecting and setting your start and finish times and dates. Cash-ups can be performed at the register or more conveniently at the back office, which doesn't presume the manager to end a shift and stop trading. All transactions and orders are recorded so you can simply drill into any day and access payment types, the number of orders on a particular shift, the staff on duty, the hours they worked, their roles on that particular day, the details of customer purchases and method of payment.

Sales reporting

ProTouch displays current sales information as it happens in real time, listed under headings such as product, category, server, accounts, date, time, station and order type. In addition, by drilling down into a category via the server, further data further can be accessed. For example, at the touch of a key, the number of coffees sold, the types, the tables they are sold at, which staff served them and when, can all be ascertained. All information can be stored and saved externally to the ProTouch application.
